Did you ever see a piano and player offer surrounded by so many attractive extras?

We can say positively you never did, for we originated this Co-operative Club, and after years of experience we know just what extra privileges members of the club earn by co-operation. The greater the number of members embraced in the club the more numerous and more valuable the privileges they earn.

The club in every sense a co-operative one, the members do and should control it. Every advantage of price or privilege the club offers is earned by the members themselves. We act as your agent. We lend our tremendous power as the largest buyers of pianos in the world. We take the unprecedented number of 500 members with us to the great manufacturers and by means of so vast an order secure uttermost concessions in prices. We are recompensed with a small profit on a large number of instruments. Members enjoy the whole sum of advantages commanded by the powerful merchandising principle of large buying.
